Our Commitment

SUSTAINABLE GROWTH

MOMS LEAD stands for a radical but organic transformation of both - business and society - by driving important conversations around the definition of success, demand, operation, diversity and innovation.

We saw a gap - MOMs in Leadership roles - and explored a solution for many challenges we tackle today. Finding a way to adjust business operations and culture to fit a working moms need is benefiting not just moms but a whole society - by still driving profit and growth for business.

We want to go further than the work-life balance discussion and inspire a regenerative leadership approach which serves a sustainable development of all industries and society.

We are eager to provide a living library of regenerative leadership in action examples and a unified blueprint and path for the future, to tackle climate change, preserve nature, end poverty, improve health and education, reduce inequality and spur sustainable economic growth.

Regenerative Leadership

Why Regenerative Leadership

According to the Oxford English Dictionary the meaning to be regenerated is: to be 're-born; brought again into existence; formed anew'; a natural processes and especially: 'to restore to a better state'.

The state of a regenerative mindset and leadership approach is wisdom in action which we need, to tackle topics such as the Great Resignation, Climate Code Red, Mental Health issue, modernizing Education, Talent War, Technology Ethics, New Work Transformation or sustainable Innovation & Digitization - to just name a few.

Mostly today we see a focus on 'Agility', often implemented more as a model and method than a mindset. Agility shows up as a strong force to progress. And as this is great, it's still not the only urgent matter to follow.

Just within the creation of life, we need a more organic way to business evolution with a perspective to the whole system. Agility alone will not solve the challenges we are facing today. Just like in the yin/yang mythology or male/female harmony - the counterpart of AGILITY is REGENERATION - to balance and drive sustainable growth .

Corporations and their leaders have the potential to bring the organic force and higher purpose back to business, to impact society and the planet in a healthy perspective.

Interviews

Eve Simon, founder of the MOMS WHO LEAD INITIATIVE interviewed 40+ women around the globe - from top corporate levels to entrepreneurs, who are moms AND impactful leaders. We dive into the question how they combine motherhood and career, overcame challenges, the impact leaders have on society and how do we move towards a more healthy world for next generations.

Everything will be also available afterwards to listen at your own pace and in the comfort of your home.

Master
Classes

Join interactive live sessions to explore the regenerative leadership approach to increase your impact and everyone's well-being. The duration of these sessions is 1 hour long incl. Q&As.

Networking!

Connect and engage with others around the globe - just like in the physical world. You can meet someone random or pick the brain of someone you always wanted to meet. Expand your Circle of Influence!

We believe, the purpose of business is creating value for people and the planet, holding the space for everyone to shine and bring their talents to the greater whole, to collaborate and co-create solutions which tackle the biggest challenges of our times.

Instead of following an old paradigm, created on a model of the Industrial Revolution of the 19th century, it's urgently time to shift.

To move towards a sustainable future we have to shift our thinking and actions towards an integrative business approach which leads by love instead of power, cares more than it manages, places curiosity before knowledge and is built for future generations.

Who is best equipped for this job? MOTHERS.

We believe moms have a lot to offer, but often hold back and feel the limitations of combining motherhood and career.

We created this summit for you - to inspire, show different solutions and start a conversation to break through barriers of our systems.

- We need everyone in the conversation of change.
- MOMS ready to take the leap
 - Fathers ready to share responsibilities
 - Managers ready to create new cultures
 - Companies ready to form new compliance

We believe in an inclusive and circular evolution and collective learning (like a living library) with many answers and solutions.

Together we rise! Together we give birth to life!
